Q: Getting ORA-01407 – JDBC cannot execute [SELECT * FROM MYTABLE] in a trigger I am trying to use OracleDbTrigger in my application and try to make an update on a table if some conditions are met. The scenario goes as follows: Table: create table MYTABLE (ID int not null, PRIMARY KEY (ID)); Then, I create the trigger: CREATE OR REPLACE TRIGGER MYTABLE_INSERT BEFORE INSERT ON MYTABLE FOR EACH ROW WHEN (SELECT I.ID FROM MYTABLE I,MYTABLE O WHERE (I.PRIMARY_KEY = O.PRIMARY_KEY) AND (I.ID = :NEW.ID)) BEGIN UPDATE MYTABLE SET STATUS = 'NEW' WHERE ID = :NEW.ID END; The query works if I run it in sqlplus, but from within java the application throws an exception ORA-01407 – JDBC cannot execute. EDIT: I have found that the Java code is being executed on a different database connection than the select statement. So the question is, how do I ensure the connection used for the select statement be the same one than for the java code that is running? A: Oracle trigger are only executed in the same transaction. To make it work, you need to commit after every update. Self-Powered Cell-Fiber-Based Hyperspectral Image Sensor. We demonstrate a novel self-powered cell-fiber-based hyperspectral imaging (HSI) system based on the photoinduced charge separation and electron transfer within the photoactive layer of an organic semiconductor as well as external-electrode/organic-layer interface related charge transfer. Different cell structures including a conventional architecture, a charge-separation layer-by-layer structure, and a cell-electrode-by-layer (CEL)-based architecture are investigated. The spectral measurement of each architecture shows a prominent decrease in the power consumption and thus a higher signal-to-noise ratio (SNR) compared to the conventional architecture. In addition, the CEL-based architecture exhibits a better SNR than the charge-separation layer-by-layer architecture due to the enhanced charge-collection efficiency. The CEL-based architecture is further investigated

Drugs and cosmetics were found in jars around the body of a dead 5-year-old girl who has died from severe burns in what police said is suspected to be a homicide. The girl's body was discovered in a garbage bin on the ground floor of her home, hours after the fire started. She appeared to have been burned after a bonfire had been lit in a nearby field, said Manila police chief Manuel Raymond Morano. The child suffered 43 percent third-degree burns on about 95 percent of her body. A neighbor said the girl's mother, 32, is in police custody, suspected of setting the fire that led to the girl's death. Raymond said the parents were the only ones at home. It is a fable - a book that doesn't try to predict the future, but it does offer a glimpse of what might have been, and a measure of the risks to our civilization. And, in the process, it shows us how far we've strayed from the path set out by the Earth's first residents, the positronic robots - or babbling primates - called "Hitchhikers." Much like the babbling primates, the Hitchhikers guide to the Galaxy has absorbed the worst of literature and tried to improve it. It has taken the best parts of scores of books, many well written,
