

Actually, my name is Mike. Solomon is a descriptor I use in various picking forums. And this is my guide to picking pin locks. Most . a conventional pin lock consists of a pin (usually hardened steel), a pin nut (usually brass), a pin cup (usually hardened steel). The stud is a 70 degree bent shank that protrudes from the head of the nut. At the end, the pin can be rounded to increase the strength of the lock. The round end stud can be opened with a screwdriver or a flat blade screwdriver.
